

Transformation

DESIGNERS SELECT

Eco-friendly Products

Designers name their favorite sustainable products and materials

Marlyn Zucosky, IIDA

Partner and Director of Interior Design at Joshua Zinder Architecture + Design, Princeton, New Jersey

Carnegie: Biobased Korel

carnegiefabrics.com
Reader Service No. 210

"I was so excited to see the 'greening' of a product that I have used many times over the years. The research that went into reducing the product's carbon footprint while still delivering the same performance is really impressive!"

Móz Designs: Móz Metals

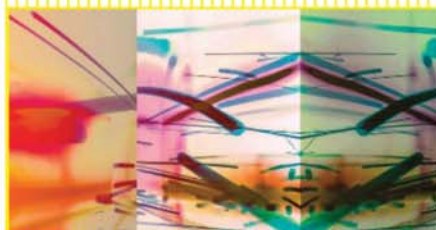

mозdesigns.com
Reader Service No. 211

"Surfaces become design tools with this product, which is fabricated from recycled aluminum. It comes in a variety of textures and finishes and can be used on a feature wall, as column covers, or on ceilings."

Skyline Design: Skyline Digital Glass Portfolio

skydesign.com
Reader Service No. 212

"The artwork used for these designs is unique, colorful, and interesting—not to mention versatile. Best of all, the materials incorporated are locally sourced. We would use the glass in any one of our restaurant or corporate projects to further enhance the aesthetic or the company's branding."